Senate.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14. Though Spencer G. Millard lies critically ill at his home in Los Angeles, he is nevertheless Lieutenant-Governor of the State of California. The State Senate today declared that there could be no doubt as to the legality of the oath of office taken by him before Superior Judge W. H. Clark at Los Angeles on the 10th inst. To guard against any technical objections that might be raised the Senate adopted a concurrent resolution ordering that a certified copy of the official oath be entered in full upon the journal of each house. There is no doubt that the Assembly will concur in the resolution. It is held however, that this is but a formality and that Mr. Millard would still be Lieutehant-Governor without further action on the part of the Legislature.

Lieutenant-Governor Reddick recognizing that his successor had been duly inaugurated, gracefully stepped down and out. Soon after he had called the Senate to order this morning, Mr. Reddick arose to a question of privilege. He declared that it was his desire to correct certain newspaper stories in which it had been stated that there was strife as to who should occupy the chair of the presiding officer of the Senate, and also stating that ill-feeling had arisen between himself and Senator Androus of Los Angeles. These stories he desired to brand as false.

He stated that within an hour after his arrival in Sacramento he met and conferred with Senator Androus regarding the seating of Mr. Millard. He told the Senator that he believed any oath of office which Mr. Millard might take before his election should be duly declared by the Speaker of the Assembly invalid, and that he and Senator Androus jointly drafted a telegram to Mr. Millard, requesting him not to qualify until his election had been declared before the Legislature in joint assembly.

The Lieutenant-Governor stated further that he had told Senator Androus that in the event of the election of Mr. Millard, that he believd he should hold over until Millard had been elected and [illegible] his duties and [illegible] Millard should qualify before the other. In conclusion, Lieutenant-Governor Reddick stated that he and Senator Androus had at all times been in harmony, and that he brought up the matter in order that his position and that of Senator Andros might not be misunderstood.

Following this statemen Senattor Gesford, chairman of the special committee appointed to arrange for the inauguration of Mr. Millard, made his report. He reported that in the opinion of the committee Mr. Millard had been duly inaugurated Lieutenant-Governor. The oath of office taken before Superisr Judge Clark at Los Angeles complied with all the provisions of the Constitution. It was believed that the provisons of the Political Code which stipulute that the Governor and Lientenant-Governor shall take the oath of office before the Legislature in joint assembly were directory merely, and not mandatory.

In conclusion, the committee recommended that a certified copy of the oath of office which accompanied their report be spread upon the journals of both houses. This report was unanimously adapted.

Immediately afterwards Senator Flint, Speaker pro tem. was called to the chair while Lieutenant-Governor Millard delivered his valedictory address. He thanked the Senators for their uniformly courteous treatment of him as their presiding officers, and referred to the fact that only twice during his term of office as President of the Senate had his decisions been appealed from, and in each case the Senate had sustained his decision. For his successor he bespoke the same coureous treatment. Then, in the midst of loud applause, he stepped down and quitted the Senate chamber.

The first duty of Speaker pro tem Flint was to announce the vote by which the Senate unanimously adopted the concurrent resolution directing the official oath of Lieutenant-Governor Millard to be entered upon the journals of both housed.

The Senate today received a petition from the Oakland Federation of Trades, in which it is asserted that California apparently has one law for the rich and another for the poor. The petition recites that while a large number of American Railway Union men have been indicted for a conspiracy of which they are innocent, no action has been taken to investigate the conspiracy recently entered into by a large number of rich men of Sacramento, who as a vigilance committee have conspired to take the law into their own hands and to drive poor men from the city of Sacramento and to prevent others charged with crime from securing a fair trial under the law.

The petitioners call upon the Governor to put down this conspiracy and upon the Legislature to officially investigate the charges which they make. The matter was referred to the Committee on Capital and Labor.

The Senate confirmed Governor Budd's appointment of E. L. Colnon as his private secretary.

Assembly.

Bledsoe was responsible for the only diversion in today's session o the Assembly. The member from Humboldt came in with his promised motion demanding that the sergeant-at-arms take steps to abolish the saloon and restaurant in the basement of the Capitol known as "The Well."

Dixon sought to shut off the aggresive member from Humboldt with a motion to lay Bledsoe's motion on the table. Dixon carried his point by a vote of 55 to 21, but Bledsoe was not thus easily squelched. He filed a written protest against the action of the Assemcly, accompanying which was an opinion from Attorney-General Fitzgerald, given in response to an inquiry frem Bledsoe.

The opinion set forth that while the Secretary of State is the custodian of the State Capitol, he has no authority to permit the building to be used for other than State purposes, and that a restaurant or saloon cannot be established in the Capitol or on the Capitol grounds. The protest was duly filed.

Dixon's motion to lay Bledsoe's motion on the table was intended to cut off all debate, but it did not prevent Bledsoe from charging that A. J. Rhoads, a prominent Republican politician of Sacramento county, was the proprietor of this saloon and restaurant privilege. Despite Bledsoe's assertion Cutter denied that liquor was being sold in the "Well," and stated that the Secretary of State had so informed him. No other business of importance came up in the Assembly.

The University opened yesterday morning. An attempt was made to begin recitations without the usual day of grace in which the students are allowed to file their study cards, but the classes were poorly attended and the experiment was not entirely satisfactory. It is impossible as yet to obtain the entire enrollment for this term to compare with that of last semester. A number of new students have been admitted on recommendation from accredited schools. Others have filed applications for entrance and petitions for special-entrance examinations. The faculty will decide at its meeting Thursday whether entrance examinations shall be given at this time. To do so entails a large amount of extra work, besides affording a precedent which would practically make it necessary to give entrance examinations three times a year.

Constable E. J. Wallace arrested W. G. Carter in Sacramento yesterday. Mr. Carter is wanted for burglary in Oakland and the officers have a sure thing against him.

The number of deaths in Berkeley of late are alarming, and do not speak well of Berkeley's good climate. We will say, by way of parenthesis, that those who have died are either old people or new comers.

Dr. J. F. Farrar had a whip and buggy robe stolen from him yesterday while he was attending a patient.

MILLARD'S OATH OF OFFICE.

Lieutenant-Governor Millard was elected by a plurality so large as to preclude the possibility of a contest, but became illness prevented him from being at Sacramento on the day of the meeting of the legislature, an attempt has been made to show that Mr. Reddick, the late Lieutenant-Governor, would make a claim to continue in office.

Againt this proposition there are at least two arguments to be urged which are unanswerable. The first is that Mr. Reddick has not the slightest ambition or desire to hold an office to which he has not been elected. He has been honored by the State with a four-year term, and he, as a Republican, is fully satisfied to make way for the man who has been chosen by the people to succeed him.

In the second place, the Lieutenant-Governor-elect has already complied with the constitutional provision which requires him to take an oath in a specified form as a condition precedent to entering upon the discharge of his duties. The Constitution prescribes that he shall swear or affirm to support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and to faithfully discharge the dnties of his office to the best of his ability, and adds: "And no other oath, declaration or test shall be required as a qualification for any office or public." It is true that the code attempts to compel this oath to be taken before the Legislature, but the code cannot expand or enlarge the Constitution without express authority conferred by that instrument itself.

In any event it would be the merest technicality to undertake to hold that the will of the people could be frustrated by the illness of a successful candidate which should prevent him temporarily from journeying to the State capital. Such a construction of the law would be quite too narrow to commend itself to the good sense and judgment of the people of California. Mr. Millard has been duly and fairly elected Lieutenant-Governor, and as soon as his health will permit he will assume the duties of his office, and that is all there is about it.

W. B. Progression Club.

The regular meeting of this club will take place this evening at the office of Paine & Dickieson on University avenue. Matters of great importance will come before the members for discussion. The Executive Committee will probably make a report on what they may think it necessary for the club to take action upon. In addition to the regular business will be the hearing of the opinions of the members on various sections of the new charter.

If it could have been possibly arranged and probably something of the kind will be done at a later date, the idea would be a good one to have some one of the Freeholder's commission on hand at these meetings that he might be questioned upon, and would probably be able to answer many points that the general public may not be very clear upon. Unquestionably those who worked hard to get the charter into shape and have thoroughly studied all the little details could give more definite information in an hour or so than otherwise could be gained in a week; and the suggestion is thrown out for the club to get some one of the framers who was one of the hard workers in the business to visit the club and give them such information as they may desire upon the subject and is in his power to give.

This will not, however, prevent the members from having a full and free discussion about tne matter and all the knotty points can be kept until the visitor may arrive.

Score One for the Ladies.

Miss Theresa M. Jacquemin of Berkeley appeared before the County Clerk this afternoon and demanded to be placed upon the Great Register. She made her plea so gracefully that Deputy County Clerk Vass was constrained to take her affidavit and place her on the Great Register. It now behooves other communities to follow Miss Jacquemin's example, so that at all elections the ladies will vote. Miss Jacquemin will vote at the Charter election and as she is a property owner we believe that she is entitled to vote.

A Determined Woman.

Miss Theresa Marie Jacquemin, a telegraph operator at Berkeley, is determined to enter the lists with the men and vote at the coming town election. For nearly a year the young woman has been making a strong effort to get her name on the Great Register of Alameda county. She has worried all the registration clerks at Berkeley, but they refused to place her name on the list of those entitled to vote. There has been a change in the office of County Clerk, and Miss Janquemin saw an opportunity to renew the battle with some success. She appeared at the Clerk's office yesterday afternoon and announced that she desired to take the oath and have her name placed on the Great Register. Deputy County Clerk R. C. Vose was a new hand at the business and hardly knew how to proceed in the matter.

"We do not register ladies in this office," remarked Vose.

"But I am a citizen of the United States," observed the young woman, "and I demand that my name shall be enrolled on the register. I am now prepared and give you notice that I am ready to take the oath and want my name placed on the register."

Vose thought of his bondsmen and damage suits, and he accordingly agreed to take Miss Jacquemin's affidavit.

The young lady gave the requirements as follows: "I am 35 years old; height, 5 feet 8 inches; fair complexion; brown eyes, and reside at 2231 Blake street, Berkeley."

"Have you any visible marks or scars?" asked the Clerk.

"None," proudly responded the lady.

The Clerk, however, noticed a mole on the side of her neck, and he jotted it down as a mark of identification.

"I am very much pleased to get my name on the Great Register," said Miss Jacquemin, "and I will now demand the right to vote at the next election. I have a friend in Berkeley, and I am going to bring her down in a few days and have her naturalized. Then I am going to have her registered and we will both go to the polls together to cast our ballots."

The lady was wonderfully pleased over her success, for she had made a long fight and felt that she had won against great odds. After she had left the Clerk's office it was announced that she was the first woman who had ever succeeded in getting registered in Alameda county. The matter was reported to the District Attorney, and he at once stated that the young woman's name could not be placed on the Great Register, as her sex was not provided for in the Constitution under the head of electors. The deputy clerk had not entered up the registration affidavit, and he concluded not to do so under the legal opinion given him. So after all Miss Jacquemin will not find her name on the register. Her affidavit will repose in the Clerk's office as being the only one ever filed for a woman in this county. It is expected that the young woman will now make a contest and demand that her name be placed on the register. The opinion of the District Attorney, however, is against her, and she will be compelled to take the matter into court if she wants the point settled.

The University has recently received a boiler of the tubular type for the new machinery building. So far the power used in the building has been generated by gas engines. When the building is fully equipped it will have ample steam power for an electric plant for lighting the grounds and buildings and for such other purposes as may be required.

The heating apparatus of the news conservatory has been placed in position and only a few finishing touches remain to complete the structure for occupation. The building is a decided acquisition and has been constructed at a low expenditure, the contract price being $13,000.

The following officers were installed by Peralta Camp of Woodmen at their hall on Center street last evening: Con, C. Mikkelsen; Adv., E. T. Harms; clerk, H. Sangster; banker, J. E. Little; escort, E. Q. Turner; watchmen, M. E. Owens; sentry, G. N. Martin; manager, W. H. Waste.

George Parker was today appointed Deputy Counstable under John Cronin, Chief Counstable of Oakland Township.

Madame Kohne, midwife and ladies' nurse, has removed from Fifth street and Bancroft way to her present residence, 1912 Fifth street, between University avenue and Bristol street. Persons requiring her services can inquire at Rutledge's drug store. x
